Individuals with disabilities are encouraged to attend all University of Iowa-sponsored events. If you are a person with a disability who requires an accommodation in order to participate in this program, please contact Robin Armstrong in advance at 319-335-3900 or stirfryproject@gmail.com.

WHAT is Stir-Fry?: A collaborative community art project that explores the stories of people who have resettled to Iowa from different countries through collective works of art. Stir-Fry will showcase an exhibition of works created by community members this past spring prior to a performance of the Sudanese Community Choir.

Event is free and open to the public. Refreshments will be served during the reception.

These events are sponsored by the University of Iowa Center for Human Rights in International Programs, the University of Iowa School of Art and Art History, the Senior Center of Iowa City, and CARTHA.
